Antarctic Circle Voyage 2013 Diving Schedule

Many ask, what compels people to explore Antarctica? The answer is simple, Antarctica is nature in its purest state; her power and beauty are at once humbling, confronting and exhilarating. Antarctica is the most isolated continent on the planet and is home to gigantic icebergs, mountain ranges, and penguins. It's a trip of a live time and once you go, you'll be hooked and will want to return.

Trip 1: 28-Jan-13 to 07-Feb-2013 | Trip 2: 07-Feb-13 to 28-Feb-2013

Embarks: Ushuaia, Argentina, Ship: Akademik Shokalskiy, Cost (from): US$6365 + US$TBD (diving option) + Fuel Surcharge. [ see website for details ]

BOOKING INFORMATION – There're many tour operators that can take you to Antarctica, but the only one we would recommend is Aurora Expeditions. Aurora is a leading Australian owned adventure and educational travel company that specializes in taking small groups of people to remote and exciting destinations. Aurora Expeditions is an efficient and professional operator for this type of demanding trip and the comfortable and sturdy Polar Pioneer would be your base of operations for this excursion.
